Background

Scott began his career as a Senior Auditor with Price Waterhouse & Co. moving to Siemens Energy & Automation (1978-1983) as Senior Accountant, Corporate Consolidation Design & Process, and then Controller, Power Switching Division. He then served as Vice President of Finance and Chief Financial Officer of publicly traded Integrated Circuits, Inc. (1983-1985).

In his career at SunAmerica/AIG (1985-2013), Scott served as Controller of SunAmerica Life Companies, playing a critical role in its conversion from a life insurance to annuities/retirement services business and market-leading growth to $8.5 billion in revenue and $50 billion in assets, until its 1999 merger with AIG. Shortly thereafter, he was named CFO of AIG Retirement Services, Inc., overseeing financial growth of five companies (group, fixed and variable annuities, broker-dealer, affordable housing) to $240 billion in assets.

In his final two years with AIG, he took on a major corporative initiative, replicating his pioneering role with SunAmerica, to standardize all AIG companies/divisions worldwide on the SAP business system. He led 250 people in a reorganization that drove down annual costs from $78 to $53 million. He then returned to Retirement Services to lead a deep re-think and transformation of its Finance model, redefine the financial organizations' roles and leadership development to more effectively support the company's goals.
